

Classics Subject Guide

Classics is an interdisciplinary subject devoted to the study of Greek and Roman civilizations. Along with Greek and Latin languages, the study of Classics entails Greek and Roman art and archaeology, history, linguistics, literature, mythology, philosophy, rhetoric, and ancient science. Many of these publications are shelved in the DE, DF, DG, PA, Z7016, and Z7021-Z7029 sections of Hillman Library. See the Department of Classics web site for more information, in addition to the Program in Classics, Philosophy, and Ancient Science \(CPAS\).
