

Full-text Databases

--- Electronic Resources Chinese Studies

Chinese Academic Journals (web-accessible)

Note: This resource is available only to current faculty, staff and students of University of Pittsburgh.

PerioPath: Index to Chinese Periodical Literature (web-accessible)

Note: This resource is available only to current faculty, staff and students of University of Pittsburgh

Siku Quanshu (CD-ROM),四库全书

It was compiled between 1773-1782, by edict from Emperor Qianlong. The full-text database contains 36,000 volumes, including history, astronomy, geography, politics, economics, and more. Contact with EAL librarian to know more information about how to apply to use the standalone CD-ROM workstation which you can access this database.

People's Daily 50 Years Picture and Texts, 1946-2000 (CD-ROM)

人民日报五十年图文数据库

The CD-ROM of People's Daily was developed and produced using the most advanced science and technology, which consists of 16 CD-ROM disks, includes fifty years information (from the first issue published on May 15,1946 to December 31,1995) containing 1000 million Chinese characters, 20 thousand illustrations and 2 million articles. It can provide 8 searching methods: date, edition page, column, headline, author, keyword and arbitrary words, it can also supply the combined words finding and the fuzzy searching with fast full text retrieval system. Contact with EAL librarian to know more information about how to apply to use the standalone CD-ROM workstation which you can access this database.